PITCAIRN ISLAND

The Pitcairn Islands, officially named the Pitcairn, Henderson, Ducie, and Oeno Islands, are a group of four islands in the southern Pacific Ocean that are the last remaining British overseas territory in the Pacific. Pitcairn Island is inhabited with fewer than 60 people, from nine families, making it notable for being the least populated jurisdiction in the world (although it is not a sovereign nation). The United Nations Committee on Decolonization includes the Pitcairn Islands on the United Nations list of Non-Self-Governing Territories.
