A map of southern England showing a travel route. The route is marked with a blue line and three blue location pins labeled A, B, and C. Pin A is located on the Dorset coast near Weymouth. Pin B is located in Salisbury. Pin C is located near Stonehenge. The route starts at A, goes north to B, then northeast to C, and finally south to Portland. Major cities and towns shown include London, Bath, Salisbury, and Bournemouth. The map also displays various roads (M4, M5, A303, etc.) and geographical features like the Isle of Wight and the English Channel.
